Recer, Staicoff, Kreher and Trustee Don McNew. Recer said, "This is such a shock, I think the board should have a few weeks to think about an appointment." He was overruled and Kreher is to assume the post Feb. 11.

Kreher 2nd Mayor of Pontoon Beach Village

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

In a surprise move Thursday night, Thomas L. Staicoff resigned as president of the Pontoon Beach village board of trustees, after serving in that office since the village was chartered almost nine years ago.

After reading a letter of resignation, Staicoff suggested that Trustee Otto Kreher, 3949 Lake St., be appointed president until the next board election in April of 1973.

Staicoff explained Kreher has the most seniority of any board member. Kreher also has served since the village was chartered.

Recer Objects

Trustee Dr. Dean Rochester made the motion that Kreher be appointed, but Trustee Fred Recer objected. He said, "This is such a shock, I think the board should have several weeks to think about an appointment."

Rochester then proposed Kreher be named temporary chairman until further board action, but William Schooley, board attorney, ruled the trustees could not appoint a temporary board president.

The board approved the appointment over Recer's objection, effective Feb. 11, until the April 1973 election. Staicoff's resignation is effective Feb. 10.

In his resignation letter Staicoff said:

"Due to increasing business pressures and commitments, I feel as though I no longer can serve the community in as dedicated a fashion as I have done in the past."

"I have reached the point at which I must decide whether or not I should continue as mayor at the cost of neglect to my business and family."

"Therefore, and with deepest regrets, I must resign as the Mayor of Pontoon Beach, after nine years of service in this capacity. In order to permit a smooth transition of village affairs, I respectfully submit my resignation, effective the 10th day of February, 1972."

Staicoff Commended
Rochester followed the acceptance of the resignation with an impromptu resolution praising Staicoff for his service and accomplishments while in office. The resolution was unanimously endorsed by the trustees.

The new president, a member of the board's police committee, has opposed Staicoff-backed candidates in the two elections which he won. Despite the political differences, he has long supported Staicoff on many issues, particularly in the establishment and improvement of the village police department.

In other action, the board approved the appointment of Charles Sturdivant, 5 Victoria Drive, as the new village health inspector, replacing Floyd Moss who was fired last month in a controversy resulting from a grand jury investigation into village activities. Moss had been an outspoken opponent of board policies during the investigation.

Fordyce Bolen, Kaseberg Park, a volunteer policeman for four years, was appointed a salaried police dispatcher, replacing Sister Cornelia Hawkins. The nun was suspended from her duties as dispatcher and juvenile officer Jan. 13, following the grand jury investigation.

The resignation of Lieutenant

William Luchini from the police department was accepted by the trustees. Luchini stated in his resignation that, "after hearing of the dismissal of Sister Cornelia for trumped-up political charges, I feel that I can no longer serve as police officer for the Village of Pontoon Beach."

The board also approved increasing the salary of Judy Williams, sanitation clerk, from $30 to $45 per month.

Quad-Cities Paying 49% Of East Side Levee Tax

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Taxpayers of the Madison County sector of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District—made up primarily of the Quad-City area—paid 49.1% of the total taxes distributed to the district during its 1971 fiscal year, it was disclosed today in the agency's annual report.

The tax distributions from this area represent a substantial increase over those of recent years which have averaged about 45% of the district's annual tax take from Quad-Cityans.

The report shows the district's revenue during the 1971 fiscal—Jan. 1 through Dec. 31—included tax income of $2,226,510. Of this amount, $1,095,470 was distributed to the district by township collectors of the Madison County portion of the district, and by the Madison County treasurer. The total St. Clair County tax distribution amounted to $1,131,040.

The major portion of the Madison County section of the levee district is made up of Granite City, Nemo, Venice and Chouteau townships. The only exception is a small area of Collinsville that lies within the levee district, but it involves only a few hundred dollars in taxes. The St. Clair County portion of the district includes Stites, Canteen and Centerline townships and most of East St. Louis Township.

Madison County Taxes
Tax distributions from the Madison County area during 1971 included $700,885 from Granite City Township, $126,292 from Nemo Township, $122,048 from Venice Township, $8,518 from Chouteau Township and $132,986 in both 1969 and 1970 taxes from the Madison County Treasurer's Office.

The district's annual report is published elsewhere in this issue of the Press-Record.

The district also received $1,843 from the Granite City Housing Authority as payments in lieu of taxes, and $738 from Collinsville Township.

All taxes in St. Clair County are collected by the county treasurer's office, rather than by township collectors. Payments to the levee district by that office in 1971 included $1,060,784 in 1970 taxes and $70,256 in 1969 taxes.

Cash receipts of the general fund during the year totaled $3,470,281. The report shows, although $879,053 of this revenue was borrowed funds in the form of anticipation warrants, and $107,555 received as a Civil Defense reimbursement for flood damages sustained by district sewer lines during the 1969 flash flood.

General Fund Costs

Total expenditures out of the general fund, according to the report, amounted to $3,397,612, including a payroll account of $800,956. Salary payments to attorneys remained under $10,000.

An estimated 2,500 persons then toured the ultra-modern hospital facilities during the following six hours yesterday afternoon and evening.

The visitors expressed wonderment and satisfaction with the new departments and equipment, which expand the bed capacity from 288 to 400 and are said to place St. Elizabeth Hospital in the front ranks of American hospitals.

Many of these participating in the conducted tour of five of the eight floors voiced surprise at the complexity and cost of the machines and facilities. Major points visited were:

First floor—operating rooms, scrub areas, pre-operative and intensive care unit.

Ground floor—x-ray, cobalt therapy, isotope scanning, emergency room and physical therapy.
Lower level—laundry, print shop and central supply.

The fourth, fifth and sixth floors were not shown. They are partly occupied by medical-surgical patients.

Announcement of the name of the new wing was made by C. E. Townsend, a member of the hospital's Governing Board. Master-of-ceremonies was Leo H. Konzen, president of the Lay Advisory Board.

Sister Mary Thomas, administrator, commented that "the name of Doctors' Wing was chosen to show gratitude and appreciation to the doctors for all the devoted care and services they have provided throughout the years."

Also speaking were Congressman Melvin Price; Paul Hopper, representing the employees; Dr. Lawrence M. Aronberg, president of the medical staff; Mrs. Margaret Lee, representing the Volunteers-Auxiliary Program; and C. E. Blankenship, immediate past president of the Lay Advisory Board.

The Rev. Frank, Christ offered prayers.

Here was the face which launched a thousand ships.
She was born Helen, daughter of the King of Sparta, a Greek city-state. When she was grown, Helen was recognized as the most beautiful woman in Greece and her father selected Menelaus, a warrior-prince, of her husband. But while Menelaus was away at war, Paris, son of Priam, the Trojan King, persuaded her to flee with him to Troy.
Returning, Menelaus and his brother, Agamemnon, raised a mighty army and sailed in a thousand ships to recover his beloved Helen. They laid siege to the heavily fortified city for 10 years, and finally decided to build a great wooden horse, and when ready, they secreted their finest fighters inside.
The next day, the army was loaded aboard the ships and set sail, leaving the Trojans to believe the siege was lifted. That night, friends inside the city opened the gates and the Trojan Horse was moved in, and Menelaus' heroes took the city.
Paris was killed during the last months of the siege, in 1194 B.C., and Helen married his brother, Deiphobus, but she betrayed him and handed him over to Menelaus, who killed him. Helen returned to Sparta as Menelaus' wife.

SIU-SW Artist to Exhibit Paintings

Paintings for Will Freund's one man show, opening Sunday at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus, were inspired by his 1970 trip to Ireland.

"I have tried to interpret Ireland's mystery and beauty in my paintings," the SIU-SW art professor said. "Everything there is rhythmic, moving. I had no preconceived idea of its space but I was awestruck by its color — its feeling of permanence."

Other works in the Freund show, to run through Feb. 27, were done at his summer home in Michigan, entitled "Autumn Yawn" and "Vanishing Point North."

Freund, whose works have been exhibited widely, created with all media. He has been cited 17 times in national competition for his creations.

In addition, he has been recognized by La Repubblica

Moderne of Paris, Life Magazine, Art News and Art in America magazines. He is also a fellow of the International Institute of Arts and Letters in Zurich and Geneva, Switzerland.

Freund's show at SIU-SW will open with a reception Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. in the lobby of the Communications Building, where his show will be on exhibit. The public is invited, admission free.

Kerry Ann Prokopich, Philip Edwards Are Wed

Miss Kerry Ann Prokopich, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Prokopich, 2333 E. 25th St., and Philip Lloyd Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Westley Edwards, 2648 Madison Ave., were united in marriage Saturday evening at Grace Baptist Church.

The Rev. Louis W. Brinker performed the double ring ceremony at seven o'clock before an altar decorated with baskets of white pom poms and pink gladiolus and illuminated with lighted-tapers in branched candelabra.

Mrs. Mary Parchment, organist, accompanied Dennis Myracle, a cousin of the bride, as he sang The Lord's Prayer.

Mr. Prokopich escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She chose for her wedding a street length dress fashioned of chantilly lace and designed in A-line style.

The dress featured a high collar and long full organza sleeves cuffed at the wrist with lace. A wide pleat in the back was accented with a white velvet bow at the waist.

She wore a shoulder length veil of bridal illusion held in place with a double white velvet bow, and her bouquet was an arrangement of white daisies, pom poms and pink roses tied with pink streamers.

Miss Susan Prokopich, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She selected a mint green lace dress with a high collar and long organza sleeves ending at the wrists with lace cuffs. A green lace bow on her hair secured a nosegay veil of matching shade, and she carried a bouquet of yellow daisies festooned with green satin streamers.

Donald Edwards served as best man for his brother and Steven and Mark Prokopich, brothers of the bride, served as guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Prokopich chose a turquoise colored dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of miniature white carnations tinted turquoise.

Mrs. Edwards was attired in a pink dress with accessories in the same shade. She wore a deep pink carnation corsage.

A reception was given immediately following the ceremony in the New Fellowship Hall at the church.

Miss Debra Johns, a cousin of the groom, presided over the guest book. Those assisting at the reception were Mesdames Roxanne Myracle, Arlene Boner and Gloria Joyce and Misses Deborah, Bretch and Ruth Myracle, the bride's cousin, and Ginger Munoz.

Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School.

The groom, who plans to attend SIU-SW in March, is employed at the Metro Service Station. He is also a member of the Revival Heirs Quartet.

Mrs. Edwards was a member of the wedding trip in Missouri the newly married couple will make their home in Granite City.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were John Prokopich, an uncle of the bride, from Henryetta, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bretch, cousins of the bride who reside in Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Rosenberg of Jacksonville. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Ann Robertson and Lewis E. Sabin of Granite City.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of ivory satin and Cluny lace designed along modified Victorian lines. The fitted bodice featured a high ruffled collar of lace and long full sleeves tightly gathered at the wrist into a wide lace cuff.

Delicate lace appliques were repeated in a front panel and created the border on the softly draped skirt and detachable tunnel train. A Juliet cap of matching Cluny lace was entrusted with pearls and secured a bouquet of pure-white gardenias and holly.

Mrs. Roger Petersen of Sunnyside, Calif., sister of the bride, was matron of honor, serving with Mrs. Robert Drees of Alton and Mrs. Ronald Vycital of Carbondale, bridesmaids.

The attendants were gownned alike in full length tapestry skirts and bayberry green crepe houses fashioned with full bishop sleeves and trimmed in Cluny lace.

Each carried a colonial bouquet of deep red and ivory mums intermingled with holly.

Jack Farrow of Granite City was best man. Robert Drees of Alton and Roger Petersen, brother-in-law of the bride, served as groomsmen. Bethel R. Murray III of Louisville, Ky., seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rosenberg selected a formal length blue organza and crushed velvet frock. The groom's mother wore a full length ensemble of green velvet. Each wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

At the reception, held immediately following the ceremony, Miss Susan Sabin, the bridegroom's sister, Miss Suzanne Surgeon, Mrs. William Scholtz, Miss Sherry Dunbar and Miss Karla Dunbar assisted.

Mrs. Paul Simon to Speak at Dinner

Mrs. Jeanne Simon, wife of Illinois Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, will be the featured speaker at the 5th annual dinner meeting of the Madison County Association for Mental Health at 7 p.m. Thursday, at the Fleming Pit Restaurant in Edwardsville.

Ticket information is available by calling 1-666-1123, the Mental Health office, 103 East Vandavia St., Edwardsville.

After receiving her law degree from Northwestern University in 1947, the former Miss Jeanne Hurley of Wilmette served as assistant state's attorney of Cook County.

In 1956, she was elected state representative of the old Seventh District (North Shore), and re-elected in 1958. Mrs. Simon received the "Best Legislator Award" of the Independent Voters of Illinois in 1959.

In 1960, she married a fellow representative, Paul Simon of Troy, Ill., and they became the first husband and wife legislative team in the history of the state.

Their marriage moved Mrs. Simon out of her legislative district and into her husband's, cutting short her career as a representative.

Mrs. Simon started a new career in 1961 when her first child was born. Sheila Simon is now a fifth grade student at Troy Elementary School. Her brother, Martin Simon, was born in 1964.

The Simons shared authorship of the book, "Protestant-Catholic Marriages Can Succeed," in 1967. Lt. Governor Simon is the son of a Lutheran clergyman and is active in the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church. Mrs. Simon is equally as involved in her Catholic parish and diocesan activities.

She also is active in the League of Women Voters, American Association of University Women, Madison County Homemakers Extension Association, St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary, Troy Park District Board and the Troy Library Board, of which she is currently president.

Mrs. Simon also is a member of the Illinois State Bar and the Illinois Women's Bar Association. She is a past president of the latter organization.

A substitute teacher at times, Mrs. Simon holds an honorary membership in Delta Kappa Gamma, an organization of women teachers.

ert center for the Performing Arts on the Illinois University campus. Delegates who took part in a convention of Associated Country Women of the World, held in Oslo, Norway, reported their experiences to the assembled homemakers.

On Friday, Miss Loreta Cowden, assistant administrator of the Extension Service, Washington, D. C., spoke on the topic, "Broadening Our Horizons."

SIU-SW Symphony to Feature Cellist

The Southern Illinois University Symphony Orchestra at the Southwestern campus will give a concert Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the Communications Building theater. The public is invited, admission free.

Joseph Pival of the SIU-SW music department will be featured on the cello.

The orchestra, under the direction of Robert Schieber, will open with Prelude and Quodrigue Fugue, Opus 126, by Hovhannes. This will be followed by Dvorak's Concerto in B Minor, Opus 104, for cello and orchestra. Following intermission, the orchestra will perform Beethoven's Symphony No. 7 in A Major, Opus 24.

The program will be repeated Sunday at 4:30 p.m. in Christ Church Cathedral, 1201 Locust St., St. Louis. Admission is free.

Pival, who received his bachelor's and master's degrees in cello and music history from the University of Illinois, studied five years with cellist Peter Farrell, former principal cellist with the St. Louis Philharmonic Orchestra, he is a member of the resident Lincoln String Quartet at SIU-SW.

Netherlands Choir to Give Concert Here—The Netherlands Chamber Choir will give a concert at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus in the Communications Building theater. The public is invited, admission free.

"We aim to entertain our audience, but we also strive to offer a stimulus for thought and emotion," says Felix de Nobel, conductor and founder of the choir.

Choral singing is an integral part of Dutch national art, according to a member of the SIU-SW music department. In the 15th and 16th centuries, when it was at its peak, the chorus masters of nearly all important European cathedrals and music centers either came from the Netherlands or were Netherlands-trained.

Dutch composers materially contributed to perfecting contrapuntal writing. Holland maintained its supremacy until well into the 16th century. Thereafter, Italy took over.

The Netherlands Chamber Choir records on Angel and Epic labels. Their releases are regularly featured by FM radio stations on special programs devoted to choral and folk music.

After establishing a reputation in Europe, the choir toured the U. S. in 1959. At that time the New York Times commented on its "perfect intonation" and "web of glorious sound."

The choir's appearance at SIU-SW is sponsored by the Fine Arts Division, the music department and the Community Choral Society.

Cougar Cagers Downed By Culver-Stockton

The problem of basketball teams of winning away from the friendly confines of their own home court is getting worse each year.

Southern Illinois University-Southwestern cagers of Coach Jim Dudley traveled to Canton, Mo., to play the Culver-Stockton College Wildcats and the Cougars lost their 14th game in 16 played this season. Eight of the losses have been on the road; one of their victories was on the road, a 96-88 win over a good McKendree College club, and the other a 100-72 victory over the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle. Culver-Stockton's record is now 13-3.

In their game against Culver-Stockton, the Cougars were charged with 18 fouls in the first half as against six for the Wildcats. This wasn't unusual in itself, except for the times in which the fouls were called. Culver-Stockton built a 44-33 lead at the intermission, largely on 20 points to SIU's five at the charity line.

The glaring oddity in the foul situation was the fact that the first infraction against Culver-Stockton wasn't called until seven minutes had elapsed on the clock and 12 fouls had already been whistled against the Cougars. The Wildcats' second foul was whistled with eight minutes remaining in the first half. Culver-Stockton's sixth foul in the first 20 minutes was called with just five seconds remaining on the clock.

Going into the second half, the Cougars came roaring back and, in less than four (at 16:22) minutes narrowed the Wildcats' lead to 44-45, as they outscored the victors, 11 to 1.

At this point, the Culver-Stockton forces refused to buckle and reeled off nine straight points as the Cougars' two big men, 6-8 Gene Bounds and 6-5 Jerry Bloomer, both in foul trouble, were on the bench.

For the game, however, the foul totals for each team weren't too glaring: SIU-SW was charged with 35, the Wildcats with 27. Culver-Stockton lost two players with five fouls, as did the Cougars.

Bloomer, Bounds Go SIU-SW lost Bloomer at 8:21 to go and Bounds departed with four minutes remaining in the game. Culver-Stockton lost its floor general, Millard Bondurant of Cairo, with 5:29 remaining. He scored only two points, but was a problem for SIU-SW bringing the ball down the court. Fouling out, too, for the victors was Scott Lange, Pekin, at 4:11 to go. He poured in 19 points for the Wildcats, with 15 of his total coming in the first half, nine of which were free throws.

About the only bright spot for Dudley was the continued returning to shooting form of his junior guard, Denny Thorneburg, whose 23 points topped all scorers.

The Cougars will host Purdue University, Calumet, of Hammond, Ind., Tuesday night at the Edwardsville High School gym, with game time at 8 p.m. Then it's back to the road for the Cougars, with two games in Kansas City, meeting the Rockhurst College Hawks Friday night and the University of Missouri, Kansas City, Saturday night.

At Canton, Mo., the Cougars made 18 free throws in 29 chances. Culver-Stockton made 35 of 49.

Field goals for both teams were exactly the same at 28.

Trojan Ed Chandler Hits 44, Roxana Downed 85-76

On the shooting of Trojan Ed Chandler who connected on 21 out of 30 field goal attempts and scored 44 points, Madison High School's cagers romped to an 85-76 tune at Roxana Friday.

"Chandler was hot and just could not be stopped by Roxana," Coach Larry Graham said. "Roger and Vernell Glassper both played real well in the guard slot. But we still need scoring from our inside men."

The Trojans held the lead at the end of each quarter 20-19, 46-38 and 66-44. Roxana outscored the Trojans 22-19 in the final period.

Madison outshot Roxana's Shells 33-27 from the field. Both teams shot well from the charity line as Roxana made 22 out of 26 attempts, 85% and Madison shot 79% from the charity line, bucking 19 out of 24.

Trojan Terrance Young led in rebounds snagging, nine, as the Trojans dominated the backboard 36-25.

No one fouled out as Madison committed 18 personal fouls and Roxana 17.

Other Trojans scoring were Vernell Glassper 15, Roger Glassper 11, Sam Byrd 8, Jerry Bedford 4, Chris Stanley 2 and Young 1.

Madison is now 6-9 and will meet Venice Friday for a 4 p.m. game.

"Venice will play a box chaser defense in an all out effort to stop Chandler, and we are going to be practicing all week in an effort to break this style of defense," Graham said.

Warriors Defeat Kahoks 74-63, Tie for 2nd Place

In a Southwest Conference basketball game here Saturday the Granite City High School Warriors defeated Collinsville 74-63 and moved into a tie for second place with Alton.

The Warriors are now 4-3 in the conference and 12-5 overall. Collinsville held the lead 13-7 at the end of the first quarter, but by half-time GCHS squeaked by for a 28-25 advantage and increased it in the third quarter to 32-20. The final quarter saw the Kahoks outscore the Warriors by two points, 24-22.

GCHS hit an even 50% from the floor with 25 field goals out of 50 attempts. Collinsville hit 44%, connecting 24 times out of 54 attempts.

In charity tosses the Warriors shot 80% with 24 of 29 tries. Collinsville hit 54% from the free throw line, 15 for 28.

One fouled out as Collinsville committed 20 personal fouls and the Warriors 27. Collinsville dominated the back boards 37-31.

Leading the Warriors was Terry Ripka with 25 points, followed by Kevin Dyer with 20. Collinsville played a four-man zone with one man on Ripka, leaving Dyer open to connect from 20 feet out with his first five attempts.

Joe Wallace tagged 17 points for the Warriors, Bob Wiggins 5, Tom Vrenick 4 and Chuck Kraus 3.

"The first quarter was miserable," coach Don Detering said. "We shot poorly and made several mental mistakes, but things came around and the team played real good ball the final three quarters."

"We were hurt by conversions as Collinsville scored 11 times on rebounds off the boards. Ripka and Dyer played very well and our defense was good."

The Warriors have two Southwest Conference games coming up this weekend.

Taking to the road Friday, GCHS will meet East St. Louis and then will take on Edwardsville here Saturday. The games both begin at 8:15 p.m., preceded by junior varsity games at 6:30 p.m.

Weather Cuts Attendance In Quad-City Schools

Attendance at public and parochial schools in the Quad-City area dipped Thursday as cold weather and icy streets kept many school buses from moving. Prather and many students remained home rather than brave the weather.

School Transportation Inc., buses serving the Granite City public schools and some St. Elizabeth School students, did not operate Thursday as cold weather was hazardous for driving. Bus service resumed Thursday afternoon. The Bi-State Transit Co. buses, serving the Venice Schools operated Thursday morning and attendance was near normal.

In the Granite City public schools, 9,498 of the district's 13,775 students attended Thursday classes. At Granite City High School, about 2,000 of the school's enrollment of 2,946 students reported.

In the junior high schools, attendance dipped as only 377 of Prather's 745 students were present, and only 411 of Grigsby's 897 students attended Thursday. At Central, 370 students of 387 enrolled attended.

At Sacred Heart, St. Elizabeth and St. Margaret-Mary parochial schools, an absentee rate of about 8% was reported. The normal absentee rate for January is about 5%.

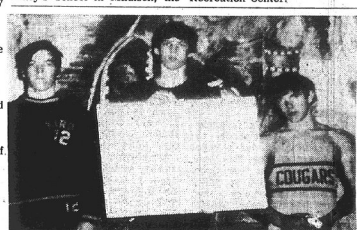

Most schools reported attendance near normal Friday. This morning nearly all schools reported normal attendance. The only exception was St. Margaret-Mary School where 20 of 250 students were absent Thursday and Friday. That number increased today. Definite figures were not available.

Venice public schools were closed Friday for a teachers' institute.

Karen Reisinger Wins Twice In Lake Forest Swim Meet

Karen Reisinger of Granite City scored two first-place victories and smashed a Lake Forest (Ill.) College record competing Saturday in an Illinois Girls At Star swim team which met the strong Cincinnati Pepsi Marlins of Ohio.

Object of the meet, held at Lake Forest College, was to better current U. S. qualifying times. Three U. S. records were broken by the competitors.

The local girl, 14, one of the youngest swimmers in the meet, was invited to take part in recognition of her excellent qualifying times in AAU-sanctioned contests.

Karen bettered the previous 80-meter freestyle record set at Lake Forest College by 1.8 seconds with a time of 9:24.6. She also gained a first in the 400-meter free style in a time of 4:36.5.

Also during the weekend 66 members of the East St. Louis YMCA swim team traveled to SIU-Carbondale to compete in a dual meet against the Jackson County YMCA. The local area squad won 386-285.

On Friday evening, team members saw the SIU Hawks lose a dual swim meet to the Indiana Hoosiers of Indiana University, considered one of the outstanding U. S. college squads.

Competing in the YMCA meet at Carbondale from here were Judy Reisinger, Janet and Mark Becherer, Scott and Mark Buegner, Debbie Griffin and David and Ken Jolly.

Warrior Matmen Win Dual Meet, Place 2nd in Tourney

With one dual match remaining to conclude a perfect season, the Granite City High School wrestlers displayed their power again Friday by downing East St. Louis Lincoln here 36-20, and by placing second in the rugged Southwest Invitational Tournament in St. Louis Saturday.

Northwest won the tournament with 71 points, Granite City followed with 69 and River View Gardens was third with 65. Other team scores were: Ritenour 54, McCluer 36, Vianney 12%, Roosevelt 6 and Southwest 2.

The Warriors' downed Lincoln's matmen with seven wins, four by pins and one draw, while Lincoln won four matches.

Earn Pins
Warrior victors by pins were Kevin Niebur (125, 1:33; Doug Wilson, 113, 1:13; Jack Schooley (167, 1:09; and Tom Kalert (185, 1:41).

Decision winners were Phil Lapinski (88, 6:4; Harry Miller (112, 14:4; and Charlie Mayfield (138, 8:3; Kerry Johnson (119) fought to a 2-2 draw. 17th Win
Friday's victory was the 17th consecutive for the Warriors in dual competition and only a match with Belleville West here at 7 p.m. tomorrow remains between the Granite City squad and an undefeated dual meet season.

The results of Saturday's tourney surprised even the experts as undefeated River View Gardens, winner of every tournament it entered, fell to third behind Northwest and the Warriors.

The Granite City team led the Rams stung at two tournaments this season and the Northwest Blue Devils fell to the Rams at four tournaments this year.

The Warriors led in the point standings over Northwest 50-55 going into the final round, but five of the six Warrior finalists fell to defeat as the Blue Devils surged into the lead. In five bouts pitting Warriors against Blue Devils for the championship, the Granite City wrestlers won only one.

Ten Quad-Cityans in Feb. 8 Bid for County Board Memberships

Quad-City and Madison County voters will go to the polls Tuesday, Feb. 8, in a primary election to choose party nominees for 20 new County Board memberships created under a county redistricting on the one-man, one-vote principle.

In the Quad-City area, however, a total of 30 precincts — 19 in Granite City township and 11 in precincts of Venice township — will not be included in the primary voting because of a lack of opposition to Democratic candidates in four districts. In each of those districts, only one Democratic candidate has filed.

Polling places will open at 6 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. Ballot tabulations will be reported to the office of County Clerk Eulalia Hotz at Edwardsville.

Miss Hotz said it will not be necessary to provide ballots for write-in voting in the precincts that have been eliminated from the primary because an opportunity for write-in balloting will be given the voters in the April runoff election. Independent candidates have filed in some rural districts, but they are not subject to the primary.

County Board candidates who are without opposition, and in whose districts no primary election will be conducted, include:

Nelson Hagmann of Granite City, incumbent chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, District 20, made up of Granite City Precincts 18, 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23.

Herbert Milton of Granite City, District 22, made up of Granite City Precincts 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 15 and 24.

Jay D. Mauer of Venice, incumbent assistant supervisor of Venice Township, District 23, made up of Granite City Precincts 9, 10 and 29 and Venice Precincts 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10 and 11.

Under last year's redistricting, voters throughout the county will elect one member of 29 board districts this year. In addition to the four Quad-City area districts in which there will be no primary voting, the area has two other Granite City districts, two Nameoki area districts and one Chouteau Township district.

Although four candidates are

CAN VITAMIN C PREVENT COLDS?
With the cold weather months coming on everyone is concerned with whether they will be catching the usual cold this winter. Recently there has been a lot of publicity about the ability to ward off colds or reduce their severity with daily doses of Vitamin C (Ascorbic Acid). Several physicians believe Vitamin C lessens cold symptoms.

Opinions on the effectiveness of Vitamin C differ widely but there is not yet definite clinical research to support either a negative or a positive conclusion. We regularly stock many reputable brands of Vitamin C preparations. Common sense in our everyday living, good diet, regular check-ups are all part of keeping ourselves healthy during the cold season.

Small Retailers Exempt From Price Controls

Retailers with a gross sales volume of less than $100,000 per year are exempt from the Economic Stabilization Program price controls.

This announcement, made earlier by the Cost of Living Council (CLC) has caused a flurry of phone calls to the Internal Revenue Service by merchants wanting more information on the CLC ruling, according to Jay G. Philpott, IRS district director for central and southern Illinois.

Philpott explained that the exemption from price controls applies only to small retail firms. "Service" firms, such as laundries and dry cleaning establishments, restaurants, appliance repair shops, are still subject to the price control regulations.

Elimination of price controls on these small businesses should substantially reduce the IRS work load but will have little effect on the overall economy. "Although 75% of the business firms have less than $100,000 in annual sales, they account for 15% or less of the nation's total retail sales volume," Philpott said.

"The competition provided by larger firms still subject to price controls, and the willingness of businessmen to cooperate with the spirit and intent of the stabilization program, leads me to believe that unreasonable price increases will not result from the elimination of these controls," Philpott said.

Each den had tables set up displaying collections and hobbies. Some of the boys told of their unusual collections. Included were miniature models of "300 mile" race cars, high ball cars, rocks, bones, keys and shells.

Den Seven, led by Mrs. Virginia Apperson, gave a play, "Baseball." New dens were presented den flags by the cubmaster. Announcement was Christian Welfare Hospital is willing to spend many thousands of dollars for promotional efforts for a new Madison County Hospital but can't seem to find pennies for its underpaid employees.

Because the administration of Christian Welfare Hospital in East St. Louis has informed its service employees that there was no money for a desperately needed pay increase, we were intrigued by the recent story in a local paper outlining the fund raising aspects of the New Madison County Hospital to be located at the junctions of Highway 162 and 159.

We were amazed and shocked to find out that the people who run Christian Welfare Hospital are more interested in spending millions for brick and mortar while refusing to spend pennies for the people who are directly responsible for a patient's health care. For example, here is what Christian Welfare pays its service workers now: 123 employees receive $1.05-$1.80 per hour; 137 employees receive $1.80-$2 per hour and only 21 employees receive over $2 per hour. And these employees are paid 37½ hours pay for 40 hours work!

Closer investigation brings us to some startling conclusions which we feel must be shared with the community. Everyone is being asked to contribute hard-earned dollars to raise over $1,000,000.

We question whether or not anyone would want to give dollars to an administration that by their own actions, has shown little concern for people. Can they be trusted to deliver on the fancy promises being made in their expensive publicity literature? We recall other promises made years ago to build a hospital in the Collinsville area. A public fund drive was held and money collected. Results? A new high school but no hospital. Will this be the same?

We have noted the following discrepancies:

1. The hospital is supposed to be non-profit. Yet, in a recent newspaper article, Dan Hicks, executive vice president and hospital administrator at Christian Welfare said: "... we could make a profit the first year of operation in the new hospital."
2. A question and answer booklet published by the professional fund raisers points out that the hospital will be run by a "lay council and Board of Trustees." BUT, states their publicity, "Approximately one-half of whom are from our immediate area." This means that the actual running of the new hospital will really be in the hands of outsiders who won't be as concerned about providing necessary services but more concerned with "turning a profit" so they can keep their jobs.
3. On one hand, Hospital Administrator Hicks says the hospital "will turn a profit" implying that it will be self supporting, that a one-time gift is all that will be needed. YET, in fund raising literature it says that, "One of the many advantages derived from being associated with Christian Welfare Hospital is that they are a financially healthy institution and would be in a position to help us absorb a loss, should there be one." Can Christian Welfare absorb any loss? Read on.
4. In a press statement released December 31, 1971, as an excuse to explain why Christian Welfare Hospital couldn't pay the minimal wage increases sought by severely underpaid service employees, they said: "We are an inner-city hospital. Over 62% of our patients are medically indigent (on Medicare or Medicaid). In the last year alone we had to charge off $917,000 in uncollectable patient care... this month the Hospital will actually operate at a loss."
5. Just who is lying? And why? Why does the fund-raising literature, at the very end where few people ever finally read, say that the hospital's supposedly one-time fund raising efforts "... should not be confused with annual appeals ...?"
6. If Christian Welfare Hospital is going broke, then how can they afford to pay the professional fund raising organization its $42,000 fee? In a newspaper article, John Hackmann, chairman of the Christian Welfare Hospital board was quoted as stating, "... the fee (of the fund raisers) would be paid by Christian Welfare as a capital investment." This $42,000 is just the agency's fee. What about the costs of the publicity, the staff, campaign offices, brochures, etc.? Is Christian Welfare also paying for those or are you, the public really paying through hidden costs?

Service Employees Local 50, after having dealt with the management of Christian Welfare Hospital, after seeing how they are willing to treat their own employees, has serious doubts about the promises and statements being force fed the public in an effort to raise money.

We feel everyone, laboring people, professional people, industry, should take a serious second look before you commit any more of your hard earned dollars. We feel there are many question marks associated with this project that need to be answered.

Anyone that is more concerned with bricks and mortar than they are with the humans that make a hospital run we view with deep suspicion. Shouldn't you?

Von Dee Cruse in Bid for County Recorder's Post

Von Dee Cruse, former Granite City alderman and township assessor, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination as Madison County recorder of deeds in the March 21 primary election. He lives at 2401a Edwards St.

The candidate is 48, a life-long resident of Granite City and is married to the former Lois Hamm. They have one daughter, Deborah, and a son, Eric. He is a veteran of World War II.

Following his Army duty, Von Dee Cruse completed an apprenticeship as a pattern maker at General Steel Industries, worked as a letter carrier at the Granite City post office, and worked in the Industrial Engineering Department of Granite City Steel Co.

He served as an alderman from 1951 through 1957. He was elected Granite City Township Assessor in 1957 and served in the post until 1965. He then worked as an administrative clerk for Circuit Clerk Willard Portell until he purchased Jacobsmeyer's Tavern in his present business, in 1969.

Von Dee Cruse said: "The duties of your recorder of deeds are both exacting and demanding: exacting in that all instruments must be recorded accurately and legally, demanding in judicial and administrative abilities plus a willingness to devote full time to this very important office. I believe my past experience in government, business and industry has given me the necessary background and experience to best serve the citizens of Madison County in the efficient operation of the recorder's office of our county."

Crime Remedy--Simple or Complex?

"A policeman's lot is not a happy one..."

The words of the opera singer are still true and the difficulties are increasing, judging by comments at last week's monthly meeting of the Southwestern Illinois Conference of Mayors.

Mayors Donald Patrick of Granite City, Mike Sayak of Madison and Dr. John E. Lee of Venice were part of the record crowd at the dinner, whose principal speaker was Lieutenant Governor Paul Simon.

Among those attending with the mayors were Police Chiefs Ronald Velez, Frank Dutko and Ralph D. Brawley.

The many speakers included Dr. Lee and Mayors Paul Lenz of Alton, James Williams of East St. Louis and Lester Munzert of Glen Carbon.

Also giving talks were Arthur Bilek, chairman, Illinois Law Enforcement Commission; Robert Lehnhausen, director, Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs; and Police Chief Lewis Dreith; and Steve Sargent, executive director, Illinois Municipal League.

State Senator Sam Vadala, in a speech, announced that the Illinois Villages and Cities Commission will receive suggestions from the mayors at the Southwestern Council's next meeting at 7 p.m. Feb. 23.

As indicated by the January and February topics of the Council of Mayors, the meetings are "working sessions" at which the emphasis is not on fun but on solving some of the problems which plague our central cities and villages.

Challenges facing police departments, and the municipalities which finance the departments, received primary attention at the Jan. 26 meeting.

Mayor Lee of Venice noted that population is considered in apportioning law enforcement financial grants, with most of the money going to big and middle-size cities.

He said special arrangements need to be made for smaller cities, such as Venice, which are in a large metropolitan area and thus are situated near major urban concentrations of population.

"We have about 4,800 people but in 1971 we had eight homicides," Dr. Lee told the gathering. "Five of the murders did not involve our area but were dumped here."

"St. Louis has just qualified for millions of dollars from the federal government to fight crime," he said. "The only thing Venice got was the toll the murderers paid to cross our city bridge to drop off the bodies."

Cities are increasing their spending and their law enforcement manpower in an effort to cope with crime but taxing levels are reaching such a high level that the public will not be able to afford continuing tax levies, the local mayor warned.

"Crime is a local-level problem, but federal money is becoming essential to assist state and local governmental agencies," he asserted.

As evidence of the effort being made, Dr. Lee cited budget increases by Venice, from $19,000 to $198,000; Madison, $185,000 to $218,000; Alton, $307,000 to $312,000; Berthold, $18,000 to $41,000; East Alton, $96,000 to $123,000; and Highland, $71,000 to $99,000.

Over the past two years, municipalities in Madison County have raised their appropriations by more than $1 million and those in St. Clair County have increased their spending by $1½ million, including East St. Louis, $1,375,000 to $1,731,000; O'Fallon, $47,000 to $130,000; and Dupu, $12,000 to $29,000, Dr. Lee said.

offenses. The Berthold chief discussed state vehicle license identification problems and proposed reduction of penalties for drug abuse.

Mayor Munzert of Glen Carbon cited special problems of villages and police adjacent to a major university.

The meeting took on an entirely new aspect as Mayor Williams of East St. Louis urged, "Let's re-define crime." He objected to the evening's earlier emphasis on orthodox concepts of crimes and remedies.

Citing the destructive railroad tank car explosion in East St. Louis Jan. 22, he said, "By the old definition, that wasn't a crime."

"Money in shoe boxes and entanglements by elected officials with honest racing," he said, "is a crime."

"It is a crime to force families to live in ghetto homes without decent recreation facilities and schools and without opportunity to qualify for $6.30-an-hour union jobs but instead training for $1.85 jobs."

Mayor Williams viewed it as hypocritical that a suburban area would be so alarmed at violent crimes invaded their neighborhoods.

For years, poor areas were ravaged by tied violations with out much governmental interest--areas where "you could kill a man and then get off for $500," he said. "But you people weren't paying attention."

"Let's define crime and also look at the causes of crime. Give us some legislation for blighted areas."

"If taxes were cut off, it would give incentive to come in and build in the ghetto--and this would then provide more jobs."

"Unless we re-orient our priorities, you will see ghettos in suburban areas as well as in the cities."

"There is need for meaningful employment in private industry and construction. And there is a need, for the long range, for programs like the old Works Progress Administration so that libraries, swimming pools, streets and housing can be built."

"We need incentives for industries to locate in ghettos. And we need to recognize that crime isn't limited to ghettos," Mayor Williams continued.

"The government gave $275 million to the Lockheed Co. But it wasn't a crime," he said. "The government gave $60 million to a Detroit bank. That wasn't a crime."

"Then we tolerate a woman trying to feed five or six hungry, deprived kids, with the police quickly driving her all in one box. We are all humans -- all trying to do what is right," he concluded.

Lt. Gov. Simon, last on the speaking program, agreed that the proliferation of new municipalities should be halted, he called for more innovation in the state's relationship to communities.

It might be possible to take an area like St. Clair County or Madison County and experimentally alter some of taxes so that communities like Granite City, Steel Co. or Monsanto could expand. Or government might experiment with a "WPA-type plan," the lieutenant governor said.

ber of beds to 125; a 1944 expansion to 150; the Dr. R. W. Binney Wing in 1958, achieving a capacity of 268 beds; and the newly-completed Doctors' Wing, for which the cornerstone was placed in 1969.

As related by the hospital, "In 1967, the people responded to a $1 million campaign and exceeded the goal by $100,000. The program called for building new wing through six floors and construction of a shell for additional floors. This would provide 48 comprehensive unit beds and 50 much-needed medical-surgical beds and ancillary facilities."

"However, acting upon the advice of persons expert in the hospital field, it was decided to accelerate the program. It was economically sound to take advantage of then-current construction costs, for building costs were spiraling and reliable surveys reported a projected need for 400 beds."

St. Elizabeth Hospital moved ahead. The Doctors' Wing, housing new expanded facilities and raising patient beds to 400, will help us to continue to answer the people's mandate to provide the finest in curative and preventive health care.

There is more work to do, and it will be accomplished in an orderly sequence of steps. The Binney Wing will undergo updating and expansion to increase convenience and comfort for both patients and personnel. New facilities are needed to provide for Medical Records, Dietary, meeting rooms and administrative services, and plans must be crystallized for the disposition of the 1931 building.

As noted, additional tasks remain ahead. But the Doctors' Wing does represent a considerable milestone, providing for this area and this region hospital facilities which are comparable to those virtually anywhere--and far more up-to-date than those available in many sections of the U. S.

The beneficiary is the local population--those who live or work or play or shop or transact business in the Quad-Cities and southern Madison County.

In the words of Sister Mary Thomas, administrator of St. Elizabeth Hospital, "All through the years, you have entrusted to us the care, health and healing of your people and responded to our appeals for help with sustenance and talent. We renew our pledge for health care without compromise and service distinguished by dignity, empathy and excellence."

The pledge is eloquently shared out by the excellent hospital wing first shown to the public on Jan. 30, 1972. Its beacon of health and hope will shine out to succeeding generations through the remainder of this century and for many years beyond.

One of the worrisome things about the membership of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council has been that for a long period it included no Quad-Cities.

That situation has been altered markedly by the addition of Nelson Hagnauer, Granite City Township supervisor and chairman of the Madison County Board of Supervisors, and Madison City Clerk John Belfco, president of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission.

The Gateway Council takes a stand on all federally-related development projects to indicate whether they are compatible with other regional improvement programs.

Mr. Hagnauer and Mr. Belfco serve along with two representatives of the City of St. Louis, two officers of the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors and representatives of St. Clair and Monroe Counties in Illinois, St. Louis, Franklin, St. Charles and Jefferson Counties in Missouri, the Bi-State Development Agency, East St. Louis and the St. Louis County Municipal League. The 15 voting members at present consist of eight Illinoisans and seven Missourians.

This raises the further question of whether private railroad companies free to put their resources into improved service in these urban corridors need the government as a partner at all.

Should the taxpayer be asked to keep nearly-empty trains running on many other routes on the uncertain promise that a few golden age is just two towns around the bend?

Amtrak so far has failed to make an appreciable dent in the American travel market outside the Boston-Washington corridor, where its glamorized "Metroliner" service has shown a 30% increase in patronage.

Amtrak has been a disappointment both in terms of the service it offers and the consequent public response.

There was probably a good bit of wishful thinking behind the idea that initial government support and the freedom to abandon many unprofitable routes would make Amtrak a paying proposition by mid-1973, as Congress was promised when it established Amtrak.

The fact is that the great majority of Americans have formed the habit of doing most of their traveling by car, plane or bus.

They have the means to support that habit and the antiquated equipment and trackage available to Amtrak is unsuited to the comfortable, high-speed rail

This Week in America's History

1772-Loyalist sentiment remained active in Maryland Colony almost to 1776, but agitation for independence grew after 1785, particularly in the areas of Baltimore and Frederick.

Capt. John Smith had explored the Chesapeake Bay region in 1608, when the Jamestown settlement was formed, and Virginians traded with Indians there.

But the first settlement in Maryland itself was made in 1634.

Sir George Calvert, the first Lord Baltimore, had visited in Virginia in 1628.

Returning to England, he brought King Charles II to grant him land in the same region.

Such a grant was made June 20, 1632, but Lord Baltimore had died in April and the charter was given to his son, Cecil Calvert, the second Lord Baltimore.

Cecil's younger brother, Leonard Calvert, led an expedition of 200 persons, in two ships, landing March 25, 1634--a date now observed as "Maryland Day" at St. Mary's, in the southern part of the grant, and the capital until 1694.

The names St. Mary's and Maryland were given in honor of Queen Henrietta Maria, wife of Charles II.

It assumed the authority of a regular government, even though there had been an Assembly as early as 1638, with lawmaking powers, and a bicameral system since 1691.

The Maryland Convention appointed delegates to the Continental Congress with instructions to vote for independence in 1776.

The Congress itself met in Baltimore in 1776-77, when as deep submergence rescue vehicle (DSRV).

At present, the Navy relies primarily on apparatus that can take rescue personnel to depths of 800 feet, such as the McCann chamber.

"Subs are going deeper now," said Lavallee, an instructor in submarine survival training, "in a more and more sophisticated manner and easy smile."

"But I don't think rescue systems can keep pace with submarine development today," he added.

Lavallee's background in submarine service spans six decades, from 1940 to 1965, when he was commissioned.

Before that, he served during World War II with the Amphibious Fleet in the South Pacific. He had joined the Navy at the age of 17.

After college, he attended college on the GI Bill, he decided to rejoin the Navy.

During the early Sixties, he participated in the struggle for survival by crew members aboard the atomic submarine Lancerfish, rammed by a merchant vessel while approaching New York harbor.

The sub sinks 1,200 feet to the floor.

Lavallee stresses that the book pointedly illustrates the shortcomings of current rescue methods, a situation the Navy does not deny.

In a recent speech to a Los Angeles audience, Rear Adm. Maurice Rindscopff, coordinator of the Navy's Deep Submergence Search program, conceded that progress has been overdue.

He explained that his staff has been working on a new submarine rescue vessel that, when operational, can descend to depths of 2,000 feet to liberate crewmen entombed in a disabled sub.

The system, he said, is known

Economic Disclosure Forms Being Prepared

Copley News Service
Springfield—An official in the office of Secretary of State John W. Lewis says forms for economic disclosure for persons at all levels of government are now being prepared.

The aide said "We hope to have the forms available in the very near future."

The economic disclosure law or code of conduct for government has been signed by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie. The disclosure statements must be filed by July 1.

On the state level, disclosure forms will be filed with the secretary of state's office, on the local level, the forms will be filed with the county clerk.

The aide said meetings are now being held to establish a procedure for filing. It is believed that procedures established on the state level will be followed on the local level.

"We are hopeful that we can get things rolling very shortly," the aide said. He added that, on the state level, the forms will be filed in the Index Division.

Passage of the code of conduct came during the brief January session of the General Assembly. It had caused major debate during the November session and was sent to a House-Senate conference committee. A compromise was worked out by the committee and the General Assembly accepted it.

The legislation spells out what must be reported, Lewis' aide said, so when the forms are prepared the legislation will be followed precisely.

The Schermer Bulletin

Another big week at Schermer's. We have noticed over the years that the worse the weather gets, the busier we are. We guess the psychology of the bad weather is "better buy today, tomorrow may be worse."

New Item! Just arrived, "Doxsee" brand steamed clams. A large 24-oz. can of soft shelled clams sells for only 79 cents. All you clam devotees can now indulge.

We had a grand response to the "Pizza Tray" special last week. Little wonder—when you sell 99 cent items for 69 cents everybody's happy. Still have a few left if you didn't get in on them.

The individually frozen, peeled and deveined shrimp that came in last week was very good size. On today's market, this 24-oz. bag of shrimp at $2.49 is a real good buy!

Keep those suggestions for new items coming. The latest is Tropical Fish Food in shrimp variety.

Feasibility of organizing a special fire protection district for the East Madison area will be studied by Madison city and Nameoki township officials as the result of a meeting Saturday afternoon at the Madison city hall.

A new fire district was suggested as the most likely means of providing fire protection to about 150 homes in the unincorporated area of Nameoki township which lies just outside the city of Madison, but which has been given fire protection in the past by the Madison Fire Department.

The city wants to discontinue service outside the Madison city limits because of a question of liability involved in responding to out-of-the-city alarms. Madison Mayor Mike Sayak said that while each call costs the city about $20, the city often is not reimbursed for such calls.

Louis Whitsett, supervisor of Nameoki Township, said residents of the area will be queried to determine if they want to form a special district. He also will obtain an estimate of assessed valuation to determine a potential tax rate for a special fire district.

Such a district could determine whether it would prefer to contract with the Madison Fire Department for protection or set up its own fire department through a bond issue.

Food, Clothing, Worker Shortages Plague Cuba

By THEODORE A. EDGER
Copley News Service

Miami — I imagine a land where, in this weight-watching age, everyone diets, where traffic jams and parking problems are nonexistent, where everyone is able to work can have a job—or else.

That is Cuba, as described by some of the last refugees to arrive by the six-year-old airlift before it was grounded by Premier Fidel Castro.

Refugees were unanimous in reporting that shortages of food, clothing and other essentials are the worst ever on the Communist island.

Even salt and water are hard to get, they said.

At Freedom House, their temporary abode in Miami, expatriates from Cuba reported:

—Most people in Cuba eat only one meal daily because there isn't enough food.

—You could walk down a street with your eyes closed.

No cars.

—Among other shortages, there is one of workers.

"We would have our meal at noon," recalled a pretty Havana senorita while waiting to fly to a new home in Hoboken, N. J.

"We ate whatever we could get, often rice and beans."

No Fruits, Vegetables

Refugees reported that fruits and vegetables, formerly overabundant in Cuba, no longer are available.

"There are peas, and that's all, but who wants to eat peas all the time, and with what?" put in a Chicago-bound refugee.

"Meat and fish are available once a week, if you get there in time. But you have to eat them at once, or they may spoil because of daily electricity blackouts and widely prevalent refrigerator breakdowns that it takes years to repair."

"Chicken I have not seen in five years."

"You can eat in a restaurant if you can afford it and want to wait in line four hours."

Holes in Pavement

A refugee from Havana described the traffic situation:

"You see occasional cars in streets, dodging deep holes in decaying pavement. You see army Jeeps and 1969 cars, with a few shiny Alfa Romeos acquired for government people."

"One by one, the old cars break down, and there are no parts to repair them. And gasoline is scarce."

Two evening hours, usually 8 to 9, are important in Cuban households. That is when the water often comes on.

"You catch what you can in pans," said Emilio Crespo, a former gardener from Camaguey province. "Ten you can flush your toilet—if you are lucky to have one in good repair."

Water Bad

"You can also get water from street hydrants at certain hours and carry it home in buckets."

But it smells so, I think even rats die from drinking it.

Clothing is another problem.

"These trousers I am wearing are the only ones I have had in three years," said slender Eduardo Hidalgo, a former Havana waiter. "You are permitted one pair a year, but try to find your size. I wear a 30 waist, and they might have 40s."

Women wear minifaldas (mini-skirts) because it takes less cloth, which is scarce, to make one, said a Havana housewife headed for Los Angeles.

But without benefit of pants-hose, which are unavailable, she said. Panties, she added, are rationed at three pairs per year but the right size is hard to come by.

Woolworth's Favorite Hero was Napoleon

Editor's Note: F. W. Woolworth, 1852-1919, was an American farmboy who became a multimillionaire selling items in his chain of stores for five and ten cents each. This is another in a series on what famous people were like in their teens.

Cunningham to Speak To Humanities Classes

Joe Cunningham, former St. Louis Cardinal baseball star and a manager in the club's farm system, will present a lecture to the humanities classes Tuesday at Madison and Venice High schools.

The lectures have been arranged in conjunction with the Venice-Madison Fine Arts Committee, a committee of the Illinois Arts Council.

While Walker of Lincoln Technical School is chairman, and members are Mrs. Harry Johnson, Mrs. Bernadette Welner, Mrs. Wade James, Mrs. Mable Dandridge and Mrs. Margaret Lee. Mrs. Marguerite Connolly is the director of the humanities program which was developed for grades 7-12 under the program for the gifted.

Scheduled for Feb. 23 is a performance by the Lincoln String Quartet of Southern Illinois University—Southwestern at the two high schools.

sunbonnets, muskrat traps, and jars with striped penny candy. He liked sitting around the big black potbelled stove, playing checkers with the old men of the town who gathered there daily.

Best of all, he liked getting away from the Woolworth store. He hated the monotonous chores that waited to be done from sunrise to sunset.

The Woolworths lived outside Watertown, N. Y. Frank went to a one-room schoolhouse where the boys sat on one side of the room and the girls on the other. The blackboard was a makeshift affair consisting of two boards nailed together with a piece of black cloth over them.

Neither Frank nor the other teen-agers learned much. They sang a little, recited a little and studied for student relays were presided frequently.

His gift to Frank was a small book about Napoleon. Frank carried it around in his blue jeans.

Mr. Napoleon had become his hero. Napoleon had been poor as a teen-ager; so was Frank. Napoleon became rich and famous; Frank resolved to do the same. But he wasn't sure how.

Frank was pretty good with figures. Math was the only subject that meant anything to him. But he did learn to read enough to know that the headlines, in big, black letters, told the people that Mr. Lincoln, president of the United States, had been assassinated.

Mrs. Woolworth knew that her son dabbled in farming. So she took all of her savings—all $12 of it—on a trip to see a six-week course in bookkeeping for Frank. He promised to pay back every cent.

He was finally offered a job in the local general store. But he was to get no salary, only experience. That was enough for Frank. He would one day own his own store, housed in the tallest building in the world. And no item in it was to cost the public over a nickel or a dime.

Firemen arrived on the scene at 5:40 a.m. today and reported the flames had spread throughout the home. Much of their time was devoted to preventing the blaze from spreading to homes on either side. The siding of the home at 1038 Douglas Street sustained an estimated $300 damage from the heat.

The Heiser house, valued at $7,500, was demolished as were furnishings valued at $1,500. Only the shell of the home remained standing when firemen left at 7:50 a.m.

Dear Nana--Charges TV Spot Showing Plight of Elderly Is 'Distasteful'

By JACKIE STEFANICH
Copy News Service

Dear Nana: I don't know if you've seen the TV ad that offers to help the elderly couple with their Medicare problems. I believe it's a savings and loan company who has this ad.

Nevertheless, I think it's terrible that any company is allowed to make fun of the older couple.

I receive Medicare and there are many things about it that I don't understand. However, I'm not stupid nor am I the aged. The picture this company has portrayed of our age group is in very poor taste. And I for one think someone should tell them of the injustice they've done to the elderly.

Not Stupid: I've seen the TV ad you're referring to and I heartily agree with your opinion of it. Therefore, I suggest you write to the president of the company who sponsors this ad and tell him your views on this matter.

I'm sure if this firm is aware of the effect their ads is having on the elderly public, they'll change or cancel it.

Dear Nana: Upon your advice, I wrote to the firm that used a distasteful picture of the elderly in a TV ad.

I also sent them a copy of your column to show them the wonderful work you are doing for the aged. So I thought you might like to see the letter I received in answer to my complaint.

"Dear Madame: Thank you for taking the time to write about our Medicare money question television advertisement. Too few in this country combine their concern for the problems of the elderly with a contribution of actual help. Judging from your letter and the copies of the Dear Nana column you sent us, you two are of these few.

"However, I'm sure that you and Dear Nana will agree that there are, in fact, a great many elderly Americans who just do not know where to turn for help. The response to our telephone service is proof enough. Over 3,000 questions have been answered since our service started just one month ago.

"Yes, our advertisement paints a 'distasteful' picture of the plight of many elderly Americans. Obviously, the elderly residents in test homes such as Dear Nana's haven't been forgotten. They are happy and content. But, what about the rest?"

Complaint Acknowledged: Dear Complaint Acknowledged: Although I still don't approve of such a TV ad, I will say it and your letter may make others aware that the elderly have been subjected to a grave injustice.

At least we'll hope it has that effect.

Dear Nana: As one golfer to another (I noticed you mentioned in your column that you also play), I certainly hope you can help me. If not, I'm stuck with an expensive golf outfit that I can't even wear playing golf.

There's one retail store in our area that I've been trading with for years as I like the line of clothes they carry. And I usually know exactly what size I need in these garments.

Last week I purchased an expensive two-piece golf outfit that was on sale at this store. In fact, a great many items from this manufacturer's golf line were on sale.

I tried the skirt on and it fit fine so I didn't bother to try on the one-piece pantsuit that went with it.

When I got ready to wear the whole outfit, I was just sick.

The pantsuit was cut so skimpy across the shoulders that it binds and my bra straps show. I couldn't possibly wear this outfit for golf or any other occasion.

As this particular item was purchased on sale, I don't feel I can return the merchandise. And it was my fault for not trying on both pieces of the outfit. But as the skirt fit fine, I never thought the pantsuit would be cut so small.

Although this outfit was on sale, it still wasn't cheap. And I don't feel it's right that I should be stuck with an outfit I can't even wear.

Besides, the owner of the retail store definitely said this line was created for sport activities. Why would a manufacturer cut these garments so tight? No golfing man or woman will wear anything that binds or is the least bit tight.

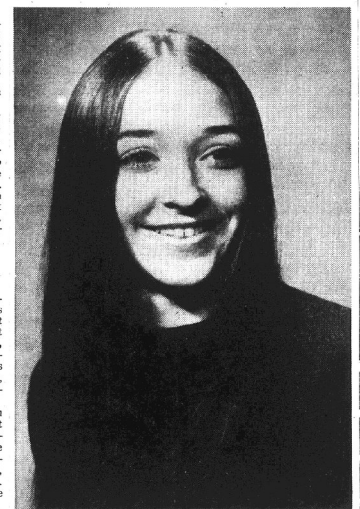

I'd certainly be interested to hear your opinion on this matter.

Skimpy: As one duffer (not too good a golfer) to another golfer, and also as a previous manufacturer of children's clothes for 10 years, I know what I'd do if I were you.

I'd write this manufacturer a letter telling him just what you've told me. If his garments are that ill-fitting, I'm sure he'd appreciate your advising him about them. It's quite possible that the manufacturer isn't aware of the sizing in his golf line.

As most of your better (expensive) lines are always cut fuller than the cheaper ones, especially if these garments were designed for a golfer or sport line, they certainly shouldn't be skimpy.

Questions on problems of the elderly may be mailed to Copy News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, Calif. 92112.

Women Can Be Helpmate, Leader, BPW Told

A woman should be a helpmate for a man and a leader to other women, Mrs. Joseph (Tex) Wickenhauser, an official of the Toastmistress International, told the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club last week.

Speaking at the annual BPW "Seven Nights" dinner at Charlie's Restaurant, the Godfrey resident disavowed any connection with the women's liberation movement by members of either the Toastmistress or business and professional women's organizations.

"We use more diplomatic methods to further our aims in achieving better working and living conditions for women," she stated. She said that neither club subscribes to demonstrations, such as promoted by women's lib groups in the past, nor in "simulacrum type" acts performed by some proponents of women's rights.

Mrs. Wickenhauser urged the local business women to organize a Toastmistress chapter in Granite City.

A pilot and holder of a commercial pilot's license, the guest speaker is employed in the aviation department of Wightman Insurance Co., Clayton, Mo. She also pilots charter flights.

She has served at all levels of the Toastmistress organization and has conducted workshops and seminars in various communities.

Mrs. Wickenhauser has resided in Godfrey the past 25 years and is the mother of five sons and a daughter. She also has five grandsons and a granddaughter.

Mrs. Ann Burton, BPW public relations chairman, introduced the guests. Entertainment was furnished by Keith Curtis, music director at Webster and Salings schools, who sang four selections, including an arrangement from "Fiddler on the Roof."

Curtis provided his own piano accompaniment and later was joined by Mrs. Valerie Stevens, a BPW member, in presenting a duet.

Mrs. Pauline Weir, president, gave the welcome and the pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. Betty Stone, Mrs. Alvenette Metcalf read the club collect.

BPW board members will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday, followed with a general business meeting at 8 o'clock. Both sessions will take place at the East Side Levee Board office on Madison Avenue.

Members with newspaper clippings, snapshots and program booklets to be placed in the club history book are asked to bring them to the meeting.

Assisting Mrs. Burton in arranging the annual dinner were Mrs. Sylvia Wright, co-chairman, Mrs. Verna Lengyel, Mrs. Lorene Sadrakula, Mrs. Helen Christich, Mrs. Rosemary Basden, Mrs. Ida Dan, Mrs. Mary Batson, Mrs. Ollie Wilson, Mrs. Marie Szyneck and Mrs. Marjorie, program coordinator.

Pitts to Head Citizens For Ogilvie Committee

Henry L. Pitts of Wheaton, a past president of the Illinois State Bar Association, has been named chairman of the Citizens for Ogilvie Committee.

The committee, which will be made up of civic, business, industrial and professional leaders from throughout Illinois, will have offices at 200 S. Second St., Springfield.

Pitts will organize a statewide drive to enlist members from the ranks of independents and other citizens—regardless of past political activity.

He predicted that thousands of community leaders who appreciate the job that Governor Ogilvie has done to improve state government will join in the massive citizens effort. Pitts stated that the organization will include persons of all occupations, age groups and geographic areas.

Re-election Essential
The re-election of Governor Ogilvie is essential to continue the tremendous progress Illinois has achieved—progress that has made Illinois an outstanding model for other states," Pitts said.

"His record during the last three years has been characterized by dramatic programs that have vastly improved and expanded state services in such vital areas as education, mental health, conservation and highway construction. These programs, and many more sweeping governmental reforms, have enabled Illinois to meet the needs of all of its 11 million citizens."

Pitts said, "We will call on those citizens now to join in a massive effort to re-elect Governor Ogilvie to another four-year term."

Chicago Law Firm

Pitts, a native of McLean, was president of the Illinois State Bar Association in 1969. He has been a member of the board of governors of the lawyers organization from 1960 to 1971. He is a partner in the Chicago law firm of Hackbert, Rooks, Pitts, Fullagar and Poust.

He is an assembly delegate in the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association and is a member of the American Bar Foundation.

Pitts is a member of the Bar Association of the 7th Federal Circuit, American Judicature Society, Law Club of Chicago, Legal Club of Chicago, Order of the Coif, and the Union League Club. He is a former president of the Union League Club.

Pitts also is a member of the Chicago Crime Commission and is a fellow of the American College of Probate Counsel.

Lucky Taxpayers Must Pay Tax on Winnings

Taxpayers who were lucky winners in lotteries, sweepstakes, raffles or give-away shows should report the fair market value of the prize on their income tax returns, Jay G. Philpott, district director for Central and Southern Illinois, said today.

If the prize is an item of merchandise, Philpott said salesmen who win prizes or receive awards in company sales or promotion contests are also subject to tax on the value of the prize. Such gifts would include vacation trips to resort areas, shares of stock or merchandise.

Awards received by employees for contributions to company suggestion plans are also reportable and should be reported as income on returns.

One type of prize is not subject to tax, Philpott said. These are prizes received in recognition of past achievements in religious, charitable, scientific, educational, artistic, literary or civic fields, where the recipient is selected without action on his part and is not expected to render any future services.

Farmers Subject to Self Employment Tax

Springfield District farmers are subject to self-employment tax for 1971 if their farm income is $400 or more. Jay G. Philpott, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, advised today.

The self-employment tax rate is 7.5%, with a maximum of $38.90, and is in addition to income tax.

A self-employed farmer is one who operates his own business or farm. A farmer who is considered self-employed if he employs others to operate or work his farm even though he does not live on it himself.

A farmer must file a federal income tax return and pay the self-employment tax due if his net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more, even if his gross income is less than otherwise required to file a return.

The self-employment tax for 1971 applies to a maximum of $7,800. But this figure is reduced by any wages from which Social Security taxes were withheld.

A special optional provision in the law enables farmers to elect to have their farm income treated as if they have a loss after expenses are deducted.

"Farm" as used in the federal tax law relating to Social Security and self-employment taxes, includes stock, dairy, fruit, fruit-bearing animals, and truck farms, and also plantations, ranches, and nurseries.

"Farmer's Tax Guide," IRS Publication 225, furnishes more detailed information on this subject. Books are available without charge from your county agricultural agent or IRS District Office.

Air Force Eyes Shuttle Project

By FRANK MACOMBER
Military-Aerospace Writer
By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

If a national space transportation system turns out to be practical for civilian travel, why would it not be valuable, too, for military missions?

That is what U. S. Air Force officials are asking each other as they watch the progress of the federal space agency's space shuttle program, aimed at carrying men and equipment between earth and globe-circling space stations late in this decade.

The Air Force is not talking publicly about the military applications of a manned space shuttle at this point, for its generals are busy rolling the drums for the next-generation B-1 supersonic bomber. Nevertheless five Air Force studies already are cranked up to identify military missions for a space shuttle system, possibly by mid-1980's.

Pushing the studies are the Air Force's Space and Missile Systems Organization (SAMSO). They follow a huddle attended by representatives of the three military services and aerospace industry spokesmen. The analyses are to pinpoint possible military uses and price tags for the space agency's space shuttle program.

Wars in Space

The studies suggest that the wars of the future may be fought partly in space. While this is not a certainty, Air Force planners concede it's a possibility. A nation without a space combat capability would be at a disadvantage against an enemy which had one, they point out.

The concept of a space war still is so vague that nobody can argue for or against it with any validity. The Air Force has hired five aerospace firms to conduct military space shuttle application studies—Lock Corp., General Electric Co., TRW Systems, Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. and McDonnell Douglas-Astronautics.

McDonnell Douglas and North American Rockwell also are looking into a special phase of the military shuttle concept—the extent to which the civilian earth-to-orbit shuttle design would have to be modified to make it suitable for military missions.

The companies already are two of the space agency's contractors under the civilian shuttle project.

To Determine Changes

Their task is to determine changes or adaptations for military launch facilities; an alternate military launch pad removed from the space agency site for security reasons; the need for "hardening" a military shuttle system and its components to avoid destruction in the event of an enemy nuclear assault, just as missile launch sites are "hardened," possible alterations in the shuttle system's command communications subsystems and the ability of the shuttle to operate with a military upper stage, probably heavier than the civilian version. (The upper stage would carry men and equipment in the earth-orbiting spacecraft after launch by a first-stage booster.

Then after delivering its cargo, the second stage would return to earth and land like a conventional airplane.)

McDonnell Douglas and North American already have completed Air Force studies of orbit-to-orbit shuttles, in which two earth-circling spacecraft would link up to transfer men and cargo.

Study of Attitude Toward Schools Upsets Cherished Official Notions

By KENNETH J. RABBen
Copley News Service

A new study of public attitudes toward local government contradicts current polls on education and upsets some cherished notions about public schools.

Although Americans want to make their cities more livable, a vast majority do not believe improving public schools is the way to go about it.

A substantial majority of 4,300 people interviewed in 10 cities say their schools are very good or good enough.

Curiously, while schools close for lack of funds and less than half the bond issues are passed, this survey claims most people would spend more for schools.

Investigators found comparatively few blacks interested in black studies, and few people concerned about sex education, curriculum reform or community control.

A majority of 10 cities opposed public aid to parochial schools and had little interest in vocational education.

Yet some of these programs receive major federal, state and local emphasis and funding today. Pressure group tactics and lobbying are becoming increasingly effective. At the same time, some schoolmen are as out of touch with the general public as ever.

Most of the study's conclusions are not surprising, but they are certain to dishearten public school officials.

The study was commissioned by the Urban Observatory Program of the National League of Cities with Uncle Sam's cooperation and some money.

It was conducted through the Survey Research Program of the prestigious Joint Center for Urban Studies of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Harvard University.

On the surface, it seems freer from the customary education bias than the plethora of other recent polls.

In addition to attitudes on school, investigators studied views on taxes and services, priorities for improving cities, housing, police protection and transportation in Albuquerque, Atlanta, Baltimore, Boston, Denver, Kansas City (Kan. and Mo.), Milwaukee, Nashville and San Diego.

Schoolmen claim that bond issues and programs are opposed by people without children in public schools.

There was no significant difference in rating public schools between people with children in them and those without children or those whose youngsters attended other schools. Most people in cities do not have school age children, research disclosed.

A majority of the population was supporting a service for the minority," was the conclusion.

Private school and university and church officials whose institutions are tax exempt may be in for even rougher financial weather.

"... There seems little doubt that some change in the laws regarding taxation of school and church property is politically feasible in most of the cities in this country, the study found.

And, "... Taxing church and private school property and using sales taxes rather than increasing property taxes were widely-supported ways of raising additional revenue."

From a list of 16 neighborhood improvements, people gave top priority to "helping kids and others who were on drugs," with more than half suggesting law enforcement to do it and about 40% favoring education and training.

Housing inspection and "making owners clean up houses that are run down or have rats or other safety hazards" were second.

School improvements shared third place with six or seven others.

Less than 10% mentioned schools when listing needed neighborhood improvements.

Those wanting improvements asked for "bigger or better buildings, more or better teachers. An item mentioned in all cities to some extent was a desire for better control and discipline for students."

Sex education was requested by about five per cent and vocational education by up to six per cent. Overall, eight per cent asked for black studies and they appeared to up to 13% of blacks.

There was no simple type of course change or curriculum addition that was mentioned by as many as 10% of the population of any city," the study notes.

Increased community control could not muster even one per cent, although up to three per cent suggested "increased parent participation in the educational process."

Between 10% and 32% of the parents said they had not been involved in school policy, with blacks more concerned than others.

They urged direct, informal school-parent communications, more parent interest and initiative as a step toward greater influence and stronger PTAs and similar organizations.

Even those who sought more involvement gave minor response" to neighborhood school committees or other traditional parents' organizations.

Building at Army Installation Is Levelled by Fire

The Granite City Army Installation — scene of disastrous fires Aug. 17, 1944, and Sept. 18, 1947 — was visited again by fire shortly before 4 p.m. Friday, with temperatures in the teens hampering firemen from the Army base, Venice and Granite City. The 12-member fire department at the installation is directed by Lawrence J. Burns.

Depot Building 407, a vacant warehouse building containing about 30,000 square feet of floor space, caught fire, apparently from a burning utility pole ignited by an electrical spark.

Once the blaze spread to the wood and sheet metal structure, which had a tar paper roof, the flames spread rapidly and left the structure nearly a total loss, also threatening nearby warehouses. There were no injuries.

Dense smoke from the one-story structure covered a wide area for several hours, and firemen were at the scene for five hours. The building had been vacant since the base was phased out as an Army depot in late June, Lt. Col. Kenneth B. Dreitzke, executive officer, said.

The facilities had once housed boxing, crating, repair and inspection departments. An investigation of the fire is to be made by Army authorities.

GRANTMASTER TIRE GUARANTEE

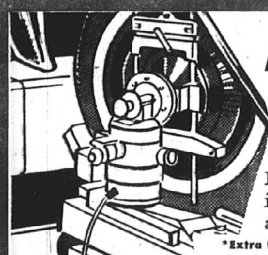

1. Tread Life Guarantee Against Road Hazards
We guarantee all Grantmaster tires against failures from all normal road hazards for the life of the tread with the exception of: ordinary nail punctures, fire, theft, front-end misalignment, under-inflation, over-inflation and running flat.

2. Tread Life Guarantee Against Defects
We guarantee the Grantmaster tires against all defects of material and workmanship for the life of the tread.
Basis of Adjustment: Should your Grantmaster tire require adjustment under Section 1 or 2 of the Guarantee, please return it to Grants and we will replace it by giving you a proportionate allowance for the unused tread, based on the current selling price, including Federal Excise Tax.

3. Guaranteed Against Tread Wear
The original tread is guaranteed not to wear out for the number of months designated. If tread wears out during this period, the tire should be returned to Grants and we will replace it, charging the current regular selling price plus Federal Excise Tax less the following percentage allowance toward the purchase of a new tire.

Tire Guarantee	Allowance
18-27 Months	10%
28-40 Months	25%

This guarantee covers tires in passenger car service only. Passenger car tires used in commercial service reduce the guarantee period by 50%.
